Let's Start!

Sewing is a valuable skill!

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Who in your family knows how to sew?
- Why is it a good skill to have?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about myths and legends.
- I can talk about things that happened or things that were happening.
- I can talk about reactions and behaviors in different situations.

Let's Explore!

The tailor cuts off too much material!

* When you sew you can call what you work on "material", cloth or fabric.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Once there was a tailor, who was poor, but always happy and positive about life. He wasn't getting much business, because he didn't have money to buy cloth. One day a traveler was passing by the tailor's shop and heard him singing. The traveler peeked into the shop to see what was going on. The tailor was sitting next to a pile of scrap material, singing a song about a jacket.

"What are you singing about?" the traveler asked.

The tailor looked up in surprise. "Have a seat," he said. "I'll tell you how it came about!"

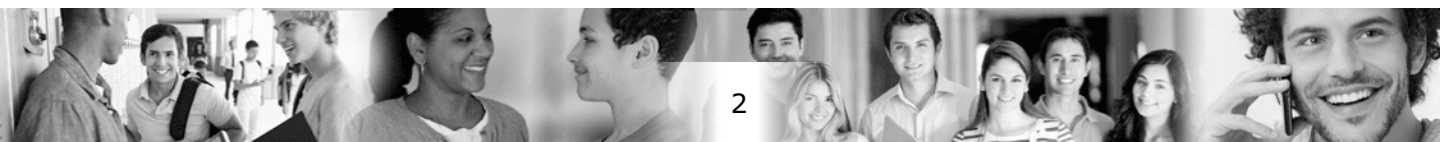

So it was that the tailor began his tale.

"Some time ago, a man came to me. He asked me to make him a suit. He disappeared before I could take his measurements, but he left the material behind.

While I was looking at the fabric, I was thinking about how I could make myself a warm coat! Now that I had the material to do it!

While I was cutting the cloth, I realized that I'd cut away too much. So, I decided to make a jacket instead. I began to fashion the jacket, but soon found that I'd cut away too much again. Hence, I decided to make a vest.

I designed, cut, and began to sew. Unfortunately, while I was working, the scissors slipped, cut, and ruined it. Here lie the pieces. There's not enough material for a garment, but there is enough material for a song! La di la di, la la."

Let's Practice!

This is how the story began.

Instructions: Select the correct answer. Practice saying the complete sentences aloud with your partner. Correct each other.

Extension Activity

Talk to people in your family and class about sewing.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Talk to 5 or 6 people about sewing.
- See if they can tell you a short story about an experience they had with sewing or trying to learn to sew.
- Take notes.
- Summarize what they have told you using language to talk about things that happened or things that were happening.
- Read your summaries to a partner.
- Decide together which is the most interesting story and say why you think so.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I ask people about sewing.

I take notes as they tell me a story.

I write up a summary of each story using the Simple Past tense and the Past Continuous tense.

I share my summaries with a partner and we decide which is the most interesting and why.

Target Words

- tailor (noun): a person who makes, repairs and alters garments
e.g. Once there was a tailor who was poor.
- cloth (noun): material that is made by weaving together threads such as cotton or wool e.g. He didn't have money to buy cloth.
- scrap (noun): discarded waste material
e.g. The tailor was sitting next to a pile of scrap material.
- fabric (noun): material used for making clothing or for decorative purposes such as curtains
e.g. While I was looking at the fabric, I was thinking about how I could make myself a warm coat!
- to come about (verb): to arrive at a particular result or end e.g. "I'll tell you how it came about!"

e.g. I decided to make a vest.
- to ruin (verb): to damage and destroy something
e.g. The scissors slipped, cut, and ruined it.

Learning Points

The Past Continuous Tense

You use the Past Continuous tense to talk about an action that was happening at a time before the present time.

You can use the Past Continuous to:

- to describe the background in a story written in the past tense

For example:

"The children were laughing and the birds were singing in the park. A woman was looking for her phone, which she dropped somewhere ..."

- to talk about an action that was interrupted by a new event or action

For example:

One day a traveler was passing by the tailor's shop and heard him singing.

- to identify two or more actions that happened in the past

For example:

While I was looking at the fabric, I was thinking about how I could make myself a warm coat!

The form of the Past Continuous is:

Subject + was/were + verb-ing

Examples:

- While I was looking at the fabric, I was thinking about how I could make myself a warm coat!
- Unfortunately, while I was working, the scissors slipped, cut, and ruined it.
- The traveler peeked into the shop to see what was going on.
- One day a traveler was passing by the tailor's shop and heard him singing.
- While I was cutting the cloth, I realized that I'd cut away too much.

The Simple Past Tense

You use the Simple Past tense to talk about many kinds of past events: short, quickly finished actions, longer situations and repeated events.

Usually, when you use the Simple Past tense, the time of the finished action is clear from the context or explicitly mentioned in the sentence.

Learning Points

For example:

Once there was a tailor, who was poor, but always happy and positive about life.

You can use the Simple Past with the Past Continuous to talk about an action that interrupted another action in progress in the past.

For example:

While I was cutting the cloth, I realized that I'd cut away too much.

The event of "realizing" interrupts the action of "cutting".

Remember that there are both regular and irregular verbs. Look at the chart for examples of the Simple Past tense verbs.

Regular Verbs:

Present	Past
realize	realized
disappear	disappeared

Irregular Verbs:

Present	Past
leave	left
begin	began

Examples:

- He wasn't getting much business, because he didn't have money to buy cloth.
- The tailor looked up in surprise.
- Some time ago, a man came to me.
- He asked me to make him a suit.
- He disappeared before I could take his measurements, but he left the material behind.
- Hence, I decided to make a vest. I designed, cut, and began to sew.
